The Church: In a State of Separation Dan Cummins

The Church: In a State of Separation provides the enlightened Christian a firm theological platform and biblical worldview from which to exercise his political activism.

Offering the reader a concise but powerful overview of biblical, world and American history, Pastor Dan provides sound reasonable evidence why the American church and her clergy should be leading the charge in today's political battles for freedom. He also identifies many of the factors contributing to the deafening silence resonating from America's pulpits.

This book is an essential for every Christian who is concerned with the direction America is heading politically, economically and culturally.

If the American Preacher forgets his role in America's history he will have lost his purpose for America's future.

The Colonial pulpits were the ramparts of the American Revolution from which fearless pastors of all denominations delivered the fiery barbs of freedom and self-determination. It was America's clergy who lit the fires of freedom in the minds of the Colonists stirring our Founding Fathers to move against the Crown. Preachers like George Whitfield... powerful men of God! Preachers who put their lives on the line for a political ideal – FREEDOM from the Crown! Separation of the Church from the State.

The European Reformation had unknowingly given birth to a unique form of clergy - the American Preacher who would not be controlled by the Crown or the State. Europe's Reformation gave birth to America's Revolution. What the European Reformation had done for the Church the American Revolution did for the State.

For the first time since King Solomon, Church and State would have a new promise land where God's People could worship God as their hearts so dictated. The leaders of both the Reformation and the Revolution were preachers. Almost half of the signers of the Declaration held degrees in theology... 23 of the 56 signers were preachers, American Preachers!

The Preachers and the Politicians were the two firm hands that held Democracy's plow, gripping the reigns of this fledgling Republic and cutting deep that furrow of freedom in the hearts of men while earnestly sowing the seeds of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Two strong hands – the preachers and the politicians! Together, like a matched team of oxen they gladly bore the yoke of liberty's burdens and kept a balance between Church and State so that the furrows of freedom would remain straight and narrow providing the abundance of liberty's amber waves of grain for generations to come. Two faithful hands to keep the balance between Church and State... the preachers and the politicians.

The Old Testament screams to us with example after example of how God took His people and solved the economic, political and cultural problems of world kingdoms. It was a national crisis that presented opportunities for God's people to become leaders and rulers in high places of government as they supernaturally, providentially, provided the answer to the nation's problem. America's crisis is God's door of opportunity for the Church! It is your opportunity.

Will the Church miss this opportunity, will our leaders and clergy remain reticent behind the walls of separation of Church and State or will she once again produce godly statesmen, like our Founding Fathers, who will lead this country out of crisis into calm?

Herein lay the opportunity of Separation of Church and State: When We the People are no longer If my People... and that If my People forget they are We the People.
