This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1914 Excerpt: ... and qualifications for the office, and publications of the truth on this subject with the honest intention of informing the people are not a libel; for it would be unreasonable to conclude that the publication of truths which it is the interest of the people to know should be an offense against their laws. For the same reason the publication of falsehood and calumny against public officers or candidates for public offices is an offense most dangerous to the people and deserves punishment, because the people may be deceived and reject the best citizens to their great injury, and it may be to the loss of their liberties." 81 Under this rule one may in good faith publish the truth concerning a public officer, but if he states that which is false and aspersive, he is liable therefor however good his motives may be;82 and the same is true whether the party defamed be an officer or a candidate for an office, elective or appointive.83 § 634. Freedom of Discussion.--Freedom of the press and freedom of speech are equally sacred and equally protected by the constitution. Section 3 of the bill of rights provided that the liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate; and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible only for the abuse of the right. In the United States nearly all the offices are elective. The press possesses no immunities not shared by every individual in the land. In every election the same freedom in discussing the merits and demerits of candidates for office is allowed equally to the press and the people, and every citizen can claim to be interested in the election of his rulers. But, under the doctrine of freedom of the press and freedom of speech, it will not do to hold that ...
