What do you do when your husband leaves you for a "scruples-free, low-life tart" who looks a lot more like your old Barbie doll than you do? If you're Bella Blumer, you complain to every friend, relative and customer that has at least one working ear to their name. And if you do this for a year, and your ex shows up dead on the anniversary of your divorce? Well, chances are, even if you are innocent (of murder, anyway), the world will assume you're guilty. With no time to spare, jewelry designer and store owner Bella must deal with the local detective who used to be her secret crush in junior high, a mother who is determined to fix her up with a nice young man (anyone under sixty qualifies), a love-crazed suitor (one of her mother's fine choices), one lawyer who thinks she's guilty and another who's ready to get serious – all while working like crazy to clear her name.
